Late this month, when you're sipping your granita at Brasil on Dunlavy Street or sneaking a peek at contemporary art at next-door neighbor Mixture Contemporary Art, catch a glimpse of a new fashion and art confluence.

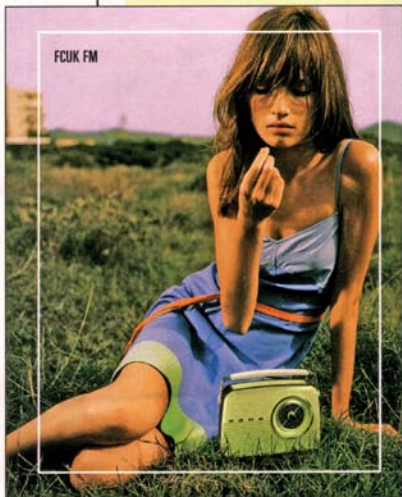

Husband-and-wife Brasil and Mixture owners Dan Fergus and Magda Sayeg are expanding their cafe/gallery with the opening of a new exhibit space called Maas Projects, just across the street from Mixture. In August, the duo opens a boutique called Raye next door to Brasil, offering fashionable finds for men and women, as well as books and domestic accessories edited by Magda ... This summer, Maas Projects' neighbor will be Edin, which is relocating from 19th Street in the Heights.

Owner Tonya Borisov will stock her usual suspects of unique designers along with a few new exclusives ... Also, in July, Plush Home promises to pamper our boudoirs with the finest linens and accessories. Located at 2233 Westheimer, the sleek new Allen Bianchi-designed emporium will stock owners Saeed and Elahe Taghdisi's signature Home Treasures line, along with other luxe linens from around the globe. Bernardo Saotang

Tune In, FCUK Off

The imp of modern English cheek, French Connection has made a reputation of getting the word out in unexpected ways. Now the British fashion brand has launched its own radio station. Though transmitted from a live studio inside London's Regent Street shop, the 24/7 broadcast is global in reach. Expect arcane Euro pop, undiscovered rock and celebrity DJ pop-ins. FCUK FM, through www.FCUK.com and in FCUK stores worldwide. Amy Prince
